Miss Cassie Carlstead's condition remains about the same.

Work on the Standard Oil filling station has commenced and will be pushed to completion.

Grayson Parks was thrown from a horse last week and received a broken arm as a result, but is getting on all right.

Jim Hunt of east of town badly cut his foot with an adz last week and is crippling around slowly since. He had a close call.

Dr. W. O. Hawkinson of Roanoke was here Monday.

W. R. Sweeney and wife spent the week end in Kansas City.

I. H. Edwards made a business trip to New Orleans the last of the week and will not return for some time. All will miss him in the meeting.

While Willis Frazier and family of six miles north of here were driving along in their truck Sunday they met with an accident by which the car was overturned and the whole family thrown out all being more or less skinned and bruised, except one boy who got off without a scratch. The father and mother suffered worst, but as no bones were broken, all will soon be out, right glad it was no worse.

J. D. Dunn has sold his property on East third street to Ben Mathews and wife for $950. They will occupy it as a home.

Monday was a fine day here and a good crowd was out to hear Senator Brewster. So far as we heard he was conservative on most things and avowed himself in favor of constructive rather than destructive legislation. Said if elected, he would do the very best he could with specific promises or pledges beyond that. When a man does the best he can no one can or should expect more, but that means that a man should not take a job he cannot fill.

Dr. Clements, state republican chairman, was here Monday and looked over the past. He is a wide awake man and kept things moving while here.

Prof. Tuttle has charge of the music at the Nicason meeting and makes the welking ring. He is a regular song bird.

A trip to Oil City reveals a busy rushing place. We saw the habitat of the paw paw but not the fruit itself.

Word was received here Sunday of the death of Mrs. Rebecca Cash of the county sanitarium. She was the widow of the late Lee Cash and a good woman with many friends, who will regret to hear of her passing.

We learn there is a prospect of opening a mine on the south side of town.

Uncle Billy Baker talks of wintering in New Mexico and may start in that direction in a few days.

The Barney sisters have moved into their new home on Le Flore street with all its loveliness and beauty and are happy.

What has become of our base ball games, and why do they tarry so long.

Jim Hurt had the misfortune Saturday morning to cut his foot badly with an adz, but is taking care of the wound and will soon be out again.

Good Jonathan apples are selling here at 50c a bushel, and they are fine, too.

Many of our people attended the Spence burial Sunday, at New Hope church, held under the auspices of the Masons.

The city fathers are having more trouble with their water works and more wells must be dug.

The paw paw question will not down until we get some more of Missouri's bananas.

Thursday night will be Shannondale night at the protracted meeting and it is hoped the whole city will be here.

While crossing Second street between the postoffice and Bell's corner, Saturday afternoon, the writer was struck by a Ford car, knocked down, rolled over, covered with dust, but not seriously injured, on badly shaken up, just covered with dust and scared out of a year's growth. The moderate rate of speed of the car accounts for these items this week. It was an accident and no blame is held against the driver.

The protracted meeting at the Christian church started off on Sunday and will run until further notice, but the effect of the illustrative service was nearly spoiled because the young people failed to remain from Sunday school. We hope in the future when a feast is prepared for them they will remain and eat it.

Mrs. Rebecca Cash died at the County Infirmary, Sunday, Oct. 1. She was admitted to the home Nov. 10, 1918. She was born Sept. 11, 1842, in this county. Some may remember her as Mrs. Lee Cash. Of her family there are three grand children still living.

MET SUDDEN DEATH YESTERDAY MORNING

the car and went along. When they reached Hooper, the cautious man who had refused to help, found it was his own brother to whom he had refused aid.

Hooper was still alive, but unconscious. A sheet was procured from a neighboring house and Hooper was taken to the home of Wylie White nearby. He died just as the front porch was reached.

Hooper has been with Dr. F. L. McCormick and family for the last 13 years and since the hospital was established has been the janitor and trusty helper.

Word was at once telephoned to the hospital and Dr. McCormick and Phil Kirtley went to the scene of the accident. The cut in the neck was a small place, but the glass severed an artery, causing the quick death.

Millard Kirtley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kirtley, is only 15 years old, and he is terribly shaken by the experience. News of the accident soon spread and people of the community gathered at the White home. This added to his discomfort as he was afraid he would be blamed. However, all who went to the place where Hooper got out of the car and followed the track of the car exonerated the boy from any blame.

Hooper was a man of slight build and short stature. He was a man of quiet ways and one whom no one would expect to come to so sudden and tragic end.—Moberly Democrat.

"VAMPS" WHO MADE HISTORY

By JAMES C. YOUNG.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE GIRL WHO MADE A KING HER JESTER.

IF IT had not been for a little negro boy with a crooked back one of the most beautiful women of the French revolutionary period might have escaped with her life. But it was the delight of Mme. du Barry to tease this boy Louis Zamora until he flew into futile rages. Her death was his revenge.

She began life as a servant's daughter, but soon became a beauty. The son of the Duc de Brissac saw her when she was under twenty, employed in a milliner's shop. From his hands she passed on to the Vicomte du Barry, a down-at-the-heel nobleman who kept a famous gambling establishment. She was the attraction of the gaming tables for several years. Then the vicomte, who saw her loveliness increase every day, conceived the idea of introducing her to Louis XV.

Lebel, valet to the king, was the judge of beauty for his imperial master. He already had introduced Pompadour, then dead. And it was to Lebel that the vicomte applied. The valet gave a dinner to which the gambler's apprentice was invited. But she failed to find the king there. In her disappointment she drank deeply, and gave way to a string of the bad talk for which she afterward was famous. The king, hidden behind a curtain, listened and was delighted. He came forth and Du Barry's fortune was in the making.

Every woman Louis had known went to the last lengths in an effort to entertain him. But Du Barry insisted that he entertain her.

Then Louis died. Du Barry retreated to a place near Paris and not long afterward again fell in with De Brissac. Next came the revolution, fearful, bloody days. Du Barry hid, but Zamora kept the revolutionary authorities informed of all that she did. One day De Brissac was late in returning from a trip to Paris in search of news. Du Barry, fearful, told Zamora to go down the road and see if her lover was on the way. "There is no need," he said. "I can show you his head," and he brought forth that gruesome object.

Du Barry was tried and executed on the same day, December 7, 1793. At the last she broke down and pleaded for her life. Zamora stood by the block and screamed his delight.

Ossie G. Woodridge and Miss Retha Webster were married by John Q. Perkins Saturday Sept. 30th. The young people are both of Keytesville. The Courier extends best wishes.

L. W. Hansman took his son Joe to St. Louis Wednesday for treatment. It is hoped he will not have to undergo an operation.

Geo. Staubs of Brunswick was a caller at the Courier office Wednesday.

Mrs. J. N. Foglesong and Mrs. L. O. Nye returned from St. Joseph Wednesday. They report Mrs. Foglesong's mother Mrs. Payton, resting and that the operation was successful.

SUMNER 38—KEYTESVILLE 34

There was a basket ball game down at the Keytesville high school grounds last Friday between Sumner and the locals. The result was not what all loyal rooters looked for and even almost prayed for.

The first half ended with the local team a few points to the good, but it seems that the boys from Sumner had solved the offense, defense and everything else that Keytesville had shown in the first half, and when they came back from the short rest they just acted in terrible manner, walking all over our boys, throwing baskets whenever they felt like it, and taking advantage of anything that happened their way. The second half showed the humiliating scene of the Keytesville boys being played completely off their feet.

Their utter inability to throw baskets, however was the Keytesville main cause for defeat. The home boy's team work was good, and in a few more game they will have their signals and work down still better.

Keytesville had the ball in their possession enough of the time during the second period to have been returned winners had they not lacked in being able to throw baskets when the very best of opportunities presented.

However, the Sumner boys are not a bunch of just happen to throw 'em, by any means. They are quick, active and not afraid to mix in any position, and they won their game because they were better basket ball shooters.

Full and due credit is hereby given the Keytesville bunch, however, in that they were not quitters. They were fighting to last minute, but they could not shoot baskets with precision when baskets was what was most needed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor took a crowd of young people to Brunswick Friday night to see "The Cheik." Brunswick has a very nice little play house and the picture was enjoyed by those attending. The Brunswick picture man is alive to the benefits accruing from showing modern up-to-the-minute pictures and the crowds attending appreciate this.

Mrs. Sarah P. Payton who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. N. Foglesong, has been in very poor health for the past year, at last has decided to go to the hospital at St. Joseph. Sunday a number of her grandchildren from Moberly and Clifton Hill, also her son H. D. Payton were here to see her. Monday Mrs. Foglesong accompanied her to the hospital and will remain with her a few days.
